| Objectives | | Legal aspects of the financial issues of the state. | | | | | | | | | | | |
| Content | | The issues of public finance are mainly the revenues, expenses, goods and budgets of the public sector. As a science, financial economics is divided into sub-divisions such as fiscal policy, financial statistics, financial sociology and financial law. Within the scope of financial law course, the subjects of finance science are explained in terms of legal aspects: Constitutional foundations of financial issues, public revenues, budget, financial management, public expenditures, financial control, financial judgment, financial misdemeanors and financial crimes are the main subjects of the course. In the context of comparative law, brief information about German financial law is also included. | | | | | | | | | | | |
